Background

Nele Jankowski has been practising as an attorney at Schindhelm in Osnabrück since 2023.

During her legal clerkship, she completed her law firm placement at Schindhelm in Osnabrück and her elective placement at Lozano Schindhelm in Valencia.

She studied law at the University of Osnabrück from 2015 to 2021, with a focus on intellectual property law.

Expertise

Nele Jankowski primarily practices in intellectual property law, with a focus on trademark and competition law. She advises and represents companies and private clients on all matters relating to the protection, enforcement, and defense of trademark rights, both in proceedings before the German Patent and Trade Mark Office (DPMA) and the EUIPO, as well as in litigation.

In competition law, Nele Jankowski assists clients with the compliant design of advertising and marketing measures and advises on the enforcement and defense of competition claims.

In addition, she advises on general commercial law matters.
